No-Cost Home Energy Assessments for Residential Customers

In partnership with MMED, Energy New England provides no-cost Home Energy Assessments for our residential customers. Their highly trained and experienced Residential Energy Advisors will assess your home's energy efficiency to identify heating, lighting, weatherization, and rebate opportunities that can save you money on your utility bills.

The Energy Advisor conducts an in-person or virtual walk-through of your home, inputting information into their energy-efficiency software to create a report for you that analyzes your home's energy usage, identifies home improvement projects that can lower your energy costs, and links to MMED's rebates and incentives.
